Ambassadors highlighted challenges facing Christians

Five ambassadors from the Diocese of Jerusalem – a priest, a film producer, a dentist, a nutritionist and an advisor to the Palestinian Prime Minister – spent ten days travelling across Southwell & Nottingham to give an insight into the challenges facing Christians in Israel, Palestine and Jordan.

The visit was arranged by the Holy Lands Partnership Group. The ambassadors visited several churches, took part in the Diocesan Conference, visited the Minster School, met with Bishop Paul over breakfast, spent time with local MPs at a lunch hosted by diocesan CEO Nigel Spraggins, and gave a lecture at the University of Nottingham.

David Lane, Holy Lands Partnership Officer, who organized the visit, said: “The visit of Fr Fadi Diab and the ambassadors from the Diocese of Jerusalem (West Bank and Jordan) enabled them both to share in our lives and to share their stories. We heard of the daily challenges for four of the group living under occupation and for the fifth living in Jordan where over 50% of the population were Palestinian refugees.

Potting Shed Church leader commissioned

A new resource church is being established in the Deanery of Newark and Southwell as part of the diocesan vision for Growing Disciples Wider Younger Deeper. The Revd Alison Jones is leading the initiative, and she and her team are already on the ground, exploring possibilities and building relationships. The new church – called The Potting Shed Church – will work with other rural parishes as they continue to develop their own plans for reaching people outside of the church.

Alison was commissioned into her new role by Bishop Paul during a Potting Shed gathering at her home. Here she describes what happened:

“We were delighted to welcome around 90 supporting friends, family, neighbours and those intrigued to find out more about The Potting Shed Church when we gathered in a marquee in the garden at Willow Cottage, Norwell Woodhouse.

“The event was an opportunity to hear a little more about plans for The Potting Shed and to hear from Bishop Paul something of the context in the Diocese within which The Potting Shed will operate as we seek to build community with those not perhaps connected with church, and explore faith in a God who loves each one of us.

“People arrived at 4pm, we gathered in the garden and they were encouraged to find their home on our Ordinance survey map! Even those ‘off the map’ marked their spot, one couple had travelled 200 miles from Manchester to join us.

“We began our service by encouraging everyone that The Potting Shed hoped to be a safe place in which we might grow and build community, but from which we might be ‘planted out’ into our families, and wider community. We then encouraged everyone to have a go at one or two activities together:

Planting a sweet chestnut tree – to mark this significant moment in our shared adventure, or to plant spring bulbs around its base

Song Workshop – learning some new songs together, and some twists on a few old ones

Prayer Bunting – getting creative with fabric and pens to capture things we’re thankful for and things we long or hope for.

New Interns welcomed to Southwell

We were delighted to welcome our new group of Diocese Interns for their first day in Southwell. Nine young leaders are going to be serving across the Diocese this year in a variety of church placements, whilst also receiving teaching and leadership development from the Younger Leadership College staff and teaching team. While some of the interns are already based in Nottingham, some have come from right across the country and overseas to join this pioneering programme.

Interns are serving in a range of church contexts across the Diocese and developing as leaders in lots of different areas of leadership. To support this, they receive weekly teaching from YLC and also focused mentoring to support their development. Interns will also be serving in a range of leadership development opportunities across the Diocese, including supporting the wider work of YLC in schools, universities and churches.

Andy Wolfe, Dean of the Younger Leadership College, said: “We are thrilled to welcome our second cohort of interns and are delighted that such a high calibre of young leaders are being attracted to work in the Diocese as part of our commitment to Growing Disciples, Wider Younger Deeper. We look forward to a brilliant year of investing in them and seeing them grow and develop in their God-given calling.”

“Then we re-gathered in the tent for a bible reading which we read together and Rev Ant Dixon our curate helped us to think about trusting God, not keeping our dreams potted up, but daring to plant them out. And to do that in the knowledge that God is for us, and wants us to flourish and grow in relationship with him. “We were then led in song by our newly formed Potting Shed band, all of us trying out the songs we’d learnt.

“Bishop Paul then commissioned Ant and me, and the growing team. He then prayed for all who had come along. Finally we enjoyed a hog roast with all the trimmings, local cider, chocolate brownies and flapjack. What’s not to like!”

Framework Carol Service at Southwell Minster

Friday 8th December, 7pm

Today, with no room at the inn, the “housing solution” for Mary and Joseph would be described as “inappropriate temporary accommodation”. The experience of the Holy Family, of thousands of individuals and families in Britain, and millions across the world, may be separated by two millennia but not much more.

The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, and from the start Jesus’s story goes to the heart of human experience. Which is why a Christmas carol service organised to support a homelessness charity is such a poignant idea and we thank Southwell Minster for making it possible.

Please join Framework at Southwell Minster on Friday 8th December to hear the message of the angels, to share in the joyful singing of wonderful carols, and to give generously in support of our work helping local people in need.

Music will include the Minster Choir performing a new song specially written to raise funds for Framework: Reach Out and Lend a Helping Hand was created by local musician Chris Lawry with inspiration from singer Andrew Randell and pupils at Kirkby Woodhouse Primary School. For information on the song, to purchase a CD or access materials to perform it please visit www.helpframework.com

Conference heard from three keynote speakers: Dr Ruth Valerio, (Global Advocacy & Influencing Director for Tearfund); Revd Professor David Wilkinson (Principal of St John’s College, University of Durham); Revd Christopher Ash (Writer in Residence, Tyndale House, Cambridge).

There was time for discussion and reflection on the presentations, and the guests took questions from the floor.

Revd David Emerton, who is the new Principal of the School of Discipleship in the diocese, also introduced himself and gave a brief talk on the meaning of discipleship and the work he will be doing in Southwell & Nottingham.

Audio recordings were made of all the addresses, including Bishop Paul’s opening address. These will be made available through the diocesan website (www.southwell.anglican.org) in due course.

World links news - Natal

www.southwell.anglican.org

Compiled for Nifty Notes

How 7000 miles became 7000 reasons!

What do a group of 5 villages at the far south of the diocese have in common with a group of 3 villages and a Zulu Township in an off the tourist map part of rural Africa? That was a question asked by many 10 years ago when parishioner, Val Hopkins, arrived back from a diocesan trip to KwaZulu Natal, South Africa announcing that she would like to form a parish partnership. The questions and objections were many but an amazing partnership began very quietly with a sharing of prayer and over the years because of visits and the sharing of news and messages as well as prayer this link has grown and flourished in a way that no-one thought possible. It has survived changes in bishops and clergy on both sides and has grown and flourished.

2017 has marked the renewal of the shared diocesan partnership in mission between the Diocese of Southwell and Nottingham and the Diocese of Natal. When Bishop Dino of Natal, his wife, Elizabeth, and Revd Dane Elsworth who is the Natal link officer, visited earlier this year they spent time with the people of the 453 Churches and their Rector, Revd Richard Coleman, and saw the enthusiasm for this very unlikely parish partnership. When our own Bishop Paul visited Natal last year he likewise had spent time in Richmond.

Both these visits cemented the partnership ever closer. So, it seemed timely and appropriate for the 5 churches that make up the 453 churches, Barton, Gotham, Kingston, Ratcliffe and Thrumpton to celebrate in style. So, on Saturday 23rd September in front of a sell out audience, a group of 5 young Zulus brought the music, the rhythms and the excitement of their culture to Gotham church. "Not everyone can go to South Africa. But we can bring a flavour of South Africa to Gotham" says Val. Then the following day there was a Service of Celebration where the guest preacher was Bishop George Cassidy who was the Bishop of Southwell and Nottingham when the link between the 2 diocese were started. Also having travelled from South Africa was Revd Moses Thabethe who was the Natal Link Officer at the time and Revd Steve Osman who was Rector of the 453 churches at the start of the partnership and now is based in the Diocese of Durham. The service was followed by that great South African institution - the Braai. The whole weekend was a wonderful celebration of what can be achieved in God's name across a 7000 mile distance. But that is not all. The people of the 453 churches have been fund raising to send the money across to Richmond to buy, transport, place, customise and equip a container to be used for children's ministry at the church of St John in the Zulu township of iNdaleni. Having done that with money to spare they are now fund raising to bring two people over from iNdaleni to visit them knowing that this will grow the partnership even more.

The Diocese is looking to form more of these amazing parish partnerships so if you think you would like to know more please contact the Diocesan Link Officer, Barbara Holbrook at bholbrook@btinternet.com

The Anglican Parish of Richmond in KwaZulu Natal South Africa comprises of Richmond, Byrne, Mid Illovo and iNdaleni.

“What shone out was the centrality of their faith lived out in the most difficult of circumstances and the contribution that faith made to their sense of identity. We heard of their resilience and determination to remain on their land despite incentives to leave. There was a great sense of hope and their need for our support, as Christians, to stay in the land where our faith began.

“Our thanks go to Fr Fadi, a parish priest from Ramallah, for both inspiring and challenging our discipleship at the Diocesan Conference, for his stimulating lecture on Fundamentalism at Nottingham University, his insights on peace making at St John’s School of Mission, his leadership of the group in discussion with five Nottinghamshire Members of Parliament and his talk on the implications of the Balfour Declaration for Palestinians.”

Marwan Durzi, describing himself as a ‘technocrat’, advising the Palestinian Prime Minister on the allocation of aid from around 30 countries, including the UK, called for both the church and the British Government to support a Palestinian state.

Deema Azar from Amman, Jordan, a film producer, brought an award-winning film she had made about a Palestinian family forced to flee from Haifa in 1948, as had 700,000 Palestinians.

Dr Abeer Nasser from Berzeit University highlighted the role of Palestinian women and their increasing influence in Palestine, whilst Hadeel Sa’adeh used statistics to illustrate her presentation on life in Jerusalem and her own experience in travelling to and from work from the other side of the Separation Wall.

“A great vote of thanks goes to the three diocesan clergy who hosted our visitors and those who gave them hospitality, as well as the two mini-bus drivers who ensured that all of them arrived safely for each of their appointments and visits,” said David.

The group also found time to enjoy themselves in Lincoln, York, Nottingham, London and Matlock Bath.
